Hello,

Thank you for applying to the Google for Startups Cloud Program. Apologies for the delay.

After a careful review, we've determined that your startup is not eligible to participate at this time. This decision is based on our program's core requirement for a globally available public website that clearly showcases a digital-native business model.

Our team was unable to validate this requirement from the information provided. For an application to be approved, we need to see clear details about the business, team behind it, and product on a public website. You can find a complete list of our application criteria in our FAQs: cloud.google.com/startup/faq

For Startups in Stealth Mode

If your company is operating in stealth mode but has secured Venture Capital (VC) funding, please connect with our Sales team (cloud.google.com/contact) to discuss moving your application forward.

Next Steps and Replies

Should your startup's website be updated to meet the program's public information requirements, we welcome you to submit* a new application for re-evaluation on cloud.google.com/startup.

Please note that this is a notification-only email. Replies sent to this email are not routed to our support team and will not receive a response. This process ensures our team can focus on reviewing all incoming applications in a timely manner. We appreciate your understanding.

If your form is not submitting correctly, it may be due to a known issue with the browser's cached memory of the page. Please either clear your browser's cache and history or use an Incognito window to start a new session and resubmit your application.*

We wish you the best of luck with your startup.

Sincerely,

The Google for Startups Cloud Team

Hello Google for Startups Cloud Program Team,

Thank you for the update. I am writing to request clarification so I can correct the verification issue properly before asking that the application be re-reviewed.

The website submitted with the application was <https://legalitize.com>. Legalitize is the product and public-facing startup brand, while Shuda Enterprises LLC is the legal business entity that owns and develops the product.

To make sure I resolve the issue accurately, could you please clarify what specifically prevented verification of the company website? Would you also need a website from my shuda enterprises llc domain? i also have one built there. <https://www.shudaenterprises.com>. Or:

For example, was the issue that:

1. the website did not load correctly during review;
2. the website did not clearly connect Legalitize to Shuda Enterprises LLC;
3. the website did not contain enough information describing the product;
4. the website domain did not match the company, email, or application information;
5. the website appeared too early-stage or incomplete for review; or
6. additional documentation is needed to verify the company, founder, domain ownership, or product?

I am ready to update the website and provide whatever supporting materials are needed, including company registration documentation, domain ownership confirmation, founder identification, product screenshots, technical architecture information, or a written company/product summary.

For reference, the intended verification details are:

Legal entity: Shuda Enterprises LLC
Product / brand: Legalitize
Founder: Alexa Shuda
Website: <https://legalitize.com>
Business email: lex@legalitize.com
Startup stage: Pre-launch / MVP in development
Product category: AI legal technology / SaaS / legal drafting automation

Please let me know what specific correction or documentation would allow the application to be re-processed.

Respectfully,
Alexa Shuda
Founder, Legalitize
